1,200 Fighting Ships Now Carry American Flag

Rear Admiral Cochrane Says Fleet Had 480 Units in 1940

LOS ANGLES, May 16. (AP)—The navy now has more than 1,200 fighting ships in the world's biggest fleet.

This was disclosed tonight in an address by Rear Admiral E. L. Cochrane, chief of the bureau of ships, prepared for a meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers here.

Four years ago, Cochrane said, our fighting fleet consisted of approximately 480 units.

"Up to the first of this year," he reported, "we had added to the fleet more than 470 fighting ships. x x x In the first four months of this year alone, we delivered no less than 185 combatant ships."

82 Ships Sunk

(Taking Cochrane's approximate figures, the total number of ships in the fleet during the four year period woud be 1,325, from which eighty-two combatant ships sunk, overdue or destroyed to prevent capture would be subtracted, to give a net total of 1,243.)

Turning to the postwar prospects for the navy, Cochrane said the international commitments of the United States would decide the number of ships to be retained in active service and the extent to which a continuing program of ship construction would be carried on, and influence the disposition of the vast facilities now existing for ship construction.

Here he had this cautionary word for the manufacturers:

"Preceding the determination of these issues, but closely related to whatever decisions may be reached with respect to them, the problem of contract termination must be met and must be met soon."

Problem for Industry

"It must be recognized," the admiral said, "that hectic as were the days when industry was converting over from peacetime production to wartime production, the reversal of this process will be fraught with even greater difficulties and dangers to the economic security of the country. The problem will be especially acute for the shipbuilding industry which has been compelled under the exigencies of the war to commit a sort of delayed-action hara-kiri by producing in a matter of mere months enough ships to take care of the nation's needs for many years to come."

Showdown Called For in Detroit Strikes by WLB

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP) — The War Labor Board called today for a showdown on the foremen's strike at war plants in the Detroit area, which Undersecretary of War Patterson described as potentially the most serious walkout of the war in its effect on combat aircraft production.

Shortly after the undersecretary had expressed his fears at a news conference, the WLB summoned the president and the ten-man Executive board of the Foremen's Association of America to a public hearing at 10 a. m. tomorrow "to show cause why the board should not immediately take all steps necessary to invoke the sanctions and penalties provided by the War Labor Disputes act and the executive orders of the president."

Civil suits for damages constitute the only penalty of the act so long as the struck plants remain in private hands. If the government seized them, criminal action might be taken against any persons encouraging a strike.

Patterson told reporters that parts and sub-assemblies for almost all army planes are manufactured in the thirteen plants affected, and the Packard Motor Car Company plant which closed Friday is the only source of engines for the P-51 Mustang long-range fighters.

Also threatened, but less immediately the undersecretary said, is the Boeing Aircraft Company's production of the new B-29 super bomber and the B-17 Flying Fortress, for which sub-assemblies and parts are made in some of the Detroit plants.

Unpledged Delegates Lead in New Jersey

NEWARK, N. J., May 16 (AP) — An organization ticket for Republican convention delegates, refused to pledge its thirty-five votes though promising to "push" Thomas E. Dewey for the presidency, ran far ahead of an out-and-out Dewey bracket in early returns from New Jersey's GOP primary tonight.

New Thrust Takes Japanese Close to Borders of India

Across Burma, to the East, Chinese Troops Continue Advance

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH

SOUTHEAST ASIA HEADQUARTERS, KANDY, CEYLON, May 16 (AP)—Japanese troops have stabbed close to the borders of India in a new thrust far to the southwest of Imphal, Allied headquarters disclosed today, while across Burma to the east, Chinese forces continued to pour across the Salween river in a co-ordinated allied drive to crush Japan's ambitions in India and reopen the road to China.

The new Japanese thrust was revealed in a communique which said an enemy attack was repulsed ten miles west of Daletme, only eleven miles east of the India frontier and 220 miles southwest of Imphal, Allied base on the Indian plain of Manipur, where previous Japanese penetrations are slowly being driven back.

Daletme, in the Kaladan river valley, lies about fifty miles northeast of Buthedaung, highwater mark of the British spring advance against Akyab on the Bay of Bengal, Buthedaung recently was abandoned for more defensible positions.

The Chinese drive on the Salween front, meanwhile, was regarded here as having been launched at the most opportune time—when the Japanese have deeply committed more than 100,000 troops elsewhere in Burma and have little or no chance of meeting the new offensive successfully.

(The Chinese high command announced in Chungking that its forces had captured several strategic points in a further advance west of the Salween river.

Mass Checkup Made Of American Soldiers

LONDON, Wednesday, May 17 (AP) —A mass checkup on every man wearing the United States Army uniform in Britain was completed at midnight.

All units, except those in transit, were confined to barracks for the previous twenty-four hours while credentials were scrutinized.

Military police in London, and elsewhere moved through streets demanding identification of both officers and enlisted men.

Phills Leading Cards As Game Is Called

ST. LOUIS, May 16 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies were leading the St. Louis Cardinals 6 to 4 tonight when their game was called after seven innings to allow the Phillies to catch a train. The game will be completed during Philadelphia's next series here starting June 28.

Max Lanier, seeking his sixth straight victory of the season, was knocked from the box in the fourth inning after three successive singles. He gave up seven hits and three runs before retiring.

10 Killed in Crash

PHILADELPHIA, May 16 (AP) — Ten crew members of a navy training airship were killed and another crewman seriously injured today when the dirigible crashed into one end of a hangar at the Lakehurst, N. J., naval training station while practicing landings and take-offs, the Fourth Naval district announced here.

The navy said the ship was of the "patrol training type, 250 feet long and carrying 416,000 cubic feet of helium." A navy spokesman said the dirigible crashed into the hangar and the envelope ripped causing the control car to crash to the concrete runway 258 feet below.

U. S. Casualties In Italy "Less Than Expected"

Progress of New Allied Offensive Expected To Become Slower

By JOSEPH MORTON

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, May 16 (AP)—A member of the staff of Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, Allied commander in Italy, said tonight in a review of the five-day-old offensive that casualties to date have been "less than we expected," but he said progress would be slower now as the Allies slug toward the Adolf Hitler line.

This spokesman gave no estimate of the number of casualties in either Allied or enemy ranks.

Progress on the Fifth army front, which embraces the lower segment of the Gustav line, may be slower now because the mountainous terrain and make-shift roads present great difficulties of supply, the spokesman said.

American and French troops, in firm control of the highway leading from Ausonia southward to the coast, now are dealing with rear positions of the Gustav line on the lower part of the front.

Beyond lies the Hitler line, which the spokesman described as studded with prefabricated steel pillboxes set in concrete.

Troops of the French empire were singled out for praise by the staff officer, who said that they started slowest of all the Allied forces but loosened up the entire sector when they took strongly-fortified Mount Maio, which lies almost due east of Ausonia and commands the approach to that town.

Labor Situation To Be Discussed

ANNAPOLIS, Md., May 16 (AP)—Governor O'Conor today announced Maryland's participation in an interstate meeting at Raleigh, N. C., with officials of ten Eastern Seaboard states May 26 to perfect plans for the distribution and exchange of available labor, from which Maryland hopes to obtain enough to meet an estimated shortage of 14,000 workers in food processing plants.

The governor also said he approved a program for community mobilization in order to procure the services of businessmen and women, and high school and grade school boys and girls for full or part-time employment in food processing activities, particularly in the canneries.

O'Conor made the announcement shortly after a meeting with Lawrence B. Fenneman, state War Manpower Commission director and other WMC representatives.

War prisoners, numbering approximately 1,000 also will be used in the Maryland counties to aid in the food processing and actual harvesting.

Of the 14,000 workers to be recruited, 6,000 men and 8,000 women are desired by the federal and state authorities, he added.

Armstrong Wins

BOSTON, May 16 (AP) — Henry Armstrong, 143, the former world's triple boxing champion, had enough of his old class left tonight to squeeze out a razor-thin verdict over a surprising Ralph Zanelli, 144¾, of Providence, in the feature ten-round bout before a crowd of 6,000 at Boston Garden.

Nazis Believe Normandy, Inspected By Rommel, Will Be Invasion Target

By LEWIS H. HAWKINS

LONDON, May 16—(AP)—Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel has completed what may be his last personal inspection of the German Atlantic wall, devoting his closest attention to Normandy and its Cherbourg peninsula, the Berlin radio said today.

German dispatches to newspapers of neutral Sweden said the Allies were expected to make their main assault against Normandy, directly across the Channel from England, but to make many other invasions all the way from Norway to the Bay of Biscay.

Among the possibilities discussed was a direct attack on Germany's dune-fringed northwest coast in a thrust toward Hamburg.

In Britain, newspaper readers studied press pictures showing massed United States tank and troop landing craft at British bases. Large landing craft flying the Stars and Stripes were shown, captioned "Ready for Invasion Call."

The British were clearing their calendar for whatever may come, and whenever it may come. Foreign Secretary Eden, announcing a secret session of the House of Commons on Thursday to consider the next sitting dates, told the House, "we are moving in slightly exceptional times."

Axis commentators forecast tonight a series of D-days on both the East and West fronts.

In unison the radio chorus called the Italian offensive a curtain-raiser of the "composite invasion pattern" in which the next act was likely to be a Russian offensive that "might break loose at any moment and be a sign for the Allies in the west."

Every Potential German Target Shows on Maps

More Than 300 Correspondents Are Ready To Cover Invasion

By JAMES M. LONG

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCES, England, May 16 (AP) — They're putting up the big-scale battlemaps on the newly-painted walls of the long conference room of invasion press headquarters—and if the German command could look them over, they'd be just as worried as they are now and not one bit better informed.

They show all of Europe in equal scale — from the North Cape to the Peloponnesus.

That's the scope of the concentric attack which the invasion will round out in pattern with the Italian drive and the great Russian front. The maps show every German potential target, every mile of Nazi-held territory and potential objective.

But wherever the Allied press officer's pointer touches in the first announcement of the greatest military undertaking in history, the most carefully prepared news reporting staff ever assembled stands ready to flash out the news which the world has awaited four long years.

More than 300 correspondents — from the United States, Britain, Canada, China, Russia, Fighting France and all the other Allies—are in the starting lineup, assigned from supreme headquarters to battlefront stations.

In the map-hung pressrooms of supreme headquarters Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's communique will be issued twice daily—at 11 a. m. (5 a. m. Eastern War Time) and 11:30 (5:30 p. m. EWT)—in an attempt to meet the news needs of papers and readers in two hemispheres. "Flashes" will be issued on special developments.

Reporters in the field have been assigned specifically to cover every fighting force on land, sea and in the air. Of fifty-five correspondents with the United States ground forces, forty-four are American, six British, two from the empire, one from Canada and the others from Allied countries. Six Americans have been assigned to British ground forces.

Catholic Priest's Suspension Lifted

Rev. Stanislaus Orlemanski Sends Apology to Bishop

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., May 16—(AP)—Upon receipt of a letter of apology, Most Rev. Thomas H. O'Leary, bishop of Springfield, today lifted the four-day-old suspension of Rev. Stanislaus Orlemanski, Catholic priest who gained headlines by his visit with Marshal Stalin recently.

Fr. Orlemanski, who was suspended by Bishop O'Leary on his arrival last Saturday from Moscow for leaving his parish without permission, still was under a doctor's care when lifting of the suspension was announced.

He had been ordered to remain in bed several days by his physician, Dr. William C. Kotarski, who reported the priest as being "on the verge of a complete physical and mental breakdown."

In the letter the Polish-American priest wrote to Bishop O'Leary, he regretted his "'seeming disregard for the legislation and directives" of his church and he hastened "to apologize for the lack of respect for the ecclesiastical authority which would be inferred" from his absence.

"It is now my fixed purpose and promise to cease and separate myself from all activities which are not in accord with the rule and mind of the Catholic church," the letter read.

Dr. Ellwood Opposes Compulsory Training

DURHAM, N. C., May 16 (AP) — Dr. Charles A. Ellwood, Duke university sociologist, urged Congress today to reject universal, compulsory military training after the war in order to prevent what he termed "a proletarian revolution," similar to the Russian revolution of 1917.

"Can one look with equanimity," he asked Chairman Reynolds (D-NC) and other members of the Senate Military Affairs committee in an open letter, "upon training to the use of arms of the lower elements in our own native laboring classes, both white and negro? What will strikes become if the strikers are trained in military methods?"

Novelist Killed On Italian Front

Frederick Faust, Known as Max Brand, Was Correspondent

WITH THE EIGHTH EVACUATION HOSPITAL, FIFTH ARMY FRONT, ITALY, May 16 (AP) — Frederick Faust, who thrilled millions with his fiction of adventure under the name of Max Brand, died in the forefront of battle within thirty minutes after the Allied offensive opened last Thursday night, the seventeenth American correspondent to be killed in the war.

Faust, 51, whose many works included the Dr. Kildare scenarios and novels, was a war correspondent representing Harper's magazine. He also was getting material for another novel.

"I want to see exactly how American troops act in battle," he told the troops waiting with him for the start of the big push Thursday night. "I'm going in with you, and I am going to write exactly what I see. If you do well, I'll tell it, and if you do badly I'll tell that too."

Then Faust went into battle and was killed, either by German artillery or mortar fire.

Three American officers who were brought to this hospital as casualties told how he deliberately had selected a battalion that spearheaded the attack.

They said he insisted on going right into the line with them. When the doughboys plunged into the thick of battle he went right along.

Faust wrote under five noms de plume and became known as "King of the Pulps" because of a prodigious output of western and action thrillers. It was estimated that Faust had produced eighty-five novels and twenty-five million words of fiction and scenarios.

Hearing Scheduled In Corrigan Case

Relations between Engineering Head, Contractors Will Be Aired

WASHINGTON, May 16—(AP)—The Senate's War Investigating committee announced today it will hear public testimony on relations between Commander John D. Corrigan, the engineering firm he heads, and certain war contractors. The committee said a number of companies doing war work had hired Corrigan's firm after Corrigan in his naval ordnance office began investigation of their navy production performance.

Chairman Truman (D-Mo) said Corrigan will be the first witness May 25, followed by officials of "some of the companies investigated by him on behalf of the navy, which hired or were requested to hire his corporation."

The hearing, beginning May 25, follows several months of private inquiry, Truman said.

Truman's statement said that staff investigation and private hearings indicated that:

1. Corrigan, Osborne and Wells (New York City) is a corporation "engaged in furnishing engineering and management consultation services primarily to the navy and companies holding navy contracts."

2. That Corrigan, co-founder, president and half owner of the stock of the corporation from which he has received "a substantial income" has described his duties as involving investigating and analysis of firms "who are behind schedule on ordnance material to determine what must be done to get production."

"A number of such firms," the statement asserted, "have hired Corrigan, Osborne and Wells almost simultaneously with inspection examinations by Commander Corrigan and criticisms by him of their work."

Roosevelt Says Conditions on Italian Front Are Encouraging

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP) — President Roosevelt declared today that conditions on the Italian front have improved and are more encouraging.

He told a news conference that on the first day after the current Allied campaign got under way he was not feeling at all well about reports he received. He said it showed the difficulties involved in being 3,000 miles or more away from a thing.

We did not seem then, Mr. Roosevelt asserted, to be making much progress. But on the second day and on the third day, he said, the situation improved and now things are distinctly better.

Roosevelt Now Has Majority Of Delegates

New Jersey and California Democrats Add 86 More to Total

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

New Jersey and California Democrats put eighty-six more delegates in President Roosevelt's column in primary voting yesterday (Tuesday) and pushed his total far above the required majority for another nomination two months in advance of the party's national convention.

Just for good measure, party leaders counted eight more for the president from Delaware and ten from Montana, and Delaware partisans heard Senator Tunnel (D-Del) call for the "forced induction" of the chief executive to stand for a fourth term.

Has Total of 677

The four states, including New Jersey's thirty-four and California's fifty-two added 104 to the Roosevelt pledged and claimed delegate strength and brought his total to 677, with only 589 needed. Four years ago at this time he lacked sixty-seven for a third nomination, but fewer delegates had been chosen then.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York appeared assured of New Jersey's thirty-five GOP delegates elected in another primary yesterday, while California Republicans put their favorite son into the presidential picture by choosing fifty nominally pledged to Gov. Earl Warren, GOP convention keynoter.

Dewey's total pledged and claimed delegates for the Republican presidential nomination thus climbed to 311, including eight picked up in Montana's convention yesterday. The Republican nominating majority is 530.

While it is unlikely the New Yorker will have enough pledges and delegates otherwise supporting him, before the national convention opens June 26, a mathemetical possibility exists. Pennsylvania's uninstructed delegation of seventy holds a caucus Saturday with strong Dewey learnings reported and 173 GOP delegates remain to be selected in conventions.

California to Vote

California's delegate elections were without contest in either party. Only minor contests were involved in the New Jersey delegate voting.

California's senatorial primary held chief interest in that state, with a flock of candidates cross-filed in both major parties for nominations to fill the seat now held by Sheridan Downey, Democrat. Candidates for twenty-three House memberships also were elected.

Senatorial nominees for a short-term in New Jersey also were chosen as well as candidates for fourteen House seats. Rep. Elmer H. Wene was unopposed for the Democratic senatorial nomination for the remainder of the term of the late W. Warren Barbour, Republican, whose place has been filled temporarily by the appointment of Senator Arthur Walsh, Democrat.

H. Alexander Smith, former Republican National committeeman, opposed Andrew O. Wittreich, for the GOP senatorial nomination, with Smith having the backing of the New Jersey party organization.

Committees Named

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP) — Secretary of the Interior Ickes announced today the appointment of approximately 125 retail coal dealers in eleven Atlantic Seaboard states to area advisory committees which will seek to achieve fair coal distribution next winter without coupon rationing.

Ickes previously had appointed area advisory committees on local distribution for twenty inland states east of the Mississippi and for the District of Columbia.

Vengeful Troops Threaten To Outflank the Enemy's Entire Defense System

Swift Advance between Americans and British Routs Nazis from First Line of Hills Overlooking Liri Valley Eliminating Observation of Allied Movements

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, May 16 (AP)—Vengeful French troops, after smashing through up to eight miles in the center of the Germans' Gustav line, tonight threatened to outflank the enemy's entire defense system guarding Cassino and the mouth of the Liri valley leading to Rome.

The swift French advance between the Americans on the south and the British on the north already had routed the Nazis from the first line of hills overlooking the Liri valley and had eliminated one great advantage the enemy previously held—direct observation of all Allied movements across the lowland approaches.

Altogether the French and American forces of the Fifth army captured at least a dozen towns and commanding heights between Cassino and the sea.

British Use Tanks

The British have thrown hundreds of tanks across the Rapido river near Sant' Angelo in readiness for a direct smash into the Liri valley, and this concentration of fast-moving armor would complicate any enemy efforts at an orderly withdrawal from the Cassino area to avoid the French flanking attack.

It was announced officially that Gen. Alphonse Juin's French, who have won the unqualified plaudits of their Allies since the offensive began last Thursday night, were forging on northward and westward from their two latest points of advance — the town of San Giorgio, seven miles southwest of Cassino, and 3,800-foot Monte Fammera, four miles southeast of San Giorgio.

American troops occupied the lofty German stronghold of Spigno, four miles from the Gulf of Gaeta, after a fierce fight on the approaches of the rubbled town, and were reported engaged in a hard struggle for Castellonorato, between Spigno and the coast. The most advanced American units seized Mountcavita, about a mile southwest of Spigno, and captured an entire artillery battery.

Front dispatches said there was evidence the Germans were withdrawing their infantry from the American sector — possibly back to the Adolf Hitler line — and leaving artillery to fight a delaying action. Two captured Nazi artillerymen complained that their infantry "ran like hell."

An Allied communique said the advancing forces "maintained the impetus of their attack," and the official count of German prisoners passed the 3,000 mark. The Nazi Seventy-first division had been badly chewed up by the French, and a regiment of the Forty-fourth division virtually destroyed.

Briggs Company Plant, Employing 10,000, Closes

Firm Says Navy Has Refused To Accept Any More of Output

DETROIT, May 16—(AP)—The Briggs Manufacturing Company closed its Mack avenue plant, which employs nearly 10,000 on all shifts, with the announcement tonight that the navy's Bureau of Aeronautics had refused to accept any more of its output.

The shutdown brought to more than 60,000 the number of idle war workers in twenty-five plants in the Detroit area, among them striking members of the Foreman's Association of America, unaffiliated, whose leaders have been summoned to appear before the War Labor Board in Washington to answer for an eighteen-day stoppage.

A Briggs spokesman said the Mack avenue plant shutdown followed notification by the navy that no more of the plant's output could be accepted "because of the lack of company supervision and inspection which is resulting in quality inacceptable to the navy."

The Briggs company is one of several major war-manufacturing concerns affected by the foremen's strike, including the Packard Motor Car Company, where approximately 35,000 are idle.

Melvin Bishop, regional director of the United Automobile Workers (CIO), and Norman Matthews, president of the Packard local of that union, telegraphed a protest against what they termed a lockout of production workers to Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson and Chairman William H. Davis of the War Labor Board.

"Failure on the part of the government and management to eliminate this lockout by Thursday, May 18, will compel the UAW-CIO to order the return of its members to their important defense jobs irrespective of such irresponsible interference with war production," the telegram asserted.

As the dispute between the foreman's association and the management of thirteen companies remained deadlocked, unrelated strikes affected operations in seven Chrysler corporation factories here, the Buick Motor Division's aluminum foundry at Flint and several smaller plants.

Food Production Outlook Is Good

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—The outlook for food production this year is "on the whole reassuring" and the danger of a milk famine has passed, Secretary of Agriculture Wickard told the Senate Appropriations committee in testimony made public today.

He declared the outlook is for a winter wheat crop "somewhat higher" than a year ago, that poultry production has remained at a high level and that milk production has gone up slightly in contradiction of predictions made by some farm leaders several months ago.

Changes in Income Tax Bill Approved By Senate Group

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP) —The streamliner income tax bill advanced another step toward final congressional approval today while a movement to reduce the tax on night clubs bumped into treasury opposition.

The income tax simplification bill, directing that Uncle Sam figure the taxes of about 30,000,000 wage and salary earners and providing a less complicated return for other taxpayers, received unanimous approval of the Senate Finance committee. Chairman George (D-Ga) said he would call it up in the Senate Friday and predicted speedy passage. It then will go back to the House for action on technical changes made by the Senate committee.

The Treasury's opposition to lowering the night club tax at this time was made known in a letter to the House Ways and Means committee, which is considering a proposal by Rep. Knutson (R-Minn) to cut it to ten per cent.

The tax was raised from five to thirty per cent on April 1, and Knutson said that as a result night club business had fallen off, causing hundreds of entertainers to lose their jobs.

Asked for an opinion on Knutson's proposal, John L. Sullivan, Acting Treasury Secretary, wrote Chairman Doughton (D-NC) of the Ways and Means committee that until more information is available on effects of the tax "consideration of a change of rate would not appear to be justified."

Soviet Airmen Resume Campaign Against German Communications

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM

LONDON, May 16 (AP) — Soviet airmen heavily bombed the Nazi-held city of Polotsk near the Latvian-Polish border last night, Moscow announced tonight, continuing an aerial campaign against German communications in the east similar to the Allied pre-invasion assaults from the west.

There were "no essential changes" on the land front, said the broadcast Russian war bulletin, recorded by the Soviet Monitor.

In the attack on Polotsk, which is on the Riga rail line, "military stores and enemy trains on the lines at the junction were bombed," the communique said. "Many fires were started. As a result of the bombing seven explosions, one of great force, occurred among the fires. All our planes returned to the base."

During the recent lull in land fighting, the Red army air force has been hammering German sea and land transportation in what both sides have said is a prelude to a large-scale Red army offensive.

A DNB military correspondent reported the Russians massing in the Lwow-Kovel and Northern Romanian regions and said "German quarters expect the Soviets will resume large-scale attacks in these sectors in the very near future."

"The only fighting on the Eastern front was reported on the lower Dnestr and in the foreland of the Carpathians," the German communique said.

More than 100,000 cork oak seedlings have been planted in California.

Germans May Now Be Retreating Into Secondary Adolf Hitler Line

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Nazi evacuation of what remains of the once powerful Gustave defense line above Cassino in Central Italy seems in order. A mounting toll of prisoners pouring back into Fifth and Eighth army concentration pens suggests that a retreat into the secondary Adolf Hitler line is even now in progress.

The Allied staff has said that Allied forces have not yet reached the Hitler line positions. It is clear, nevertheless, that both the Aurunci plateau, anchor of the German front south of the Liri river, and the San Angelo mountains behind it are in grave danger of Allied envelopment.

The situation for the enemy in the lower Liri valley itself became critical when French Fifth Army elements south of the river broke through to capture San Giorio. The village is an important junction point on a secondary road from Cassino to Formia at the head of the Gulf of Gaeta.

Allied reports do not indicate the exact position of the Adolf Hitler line. Presumably, however, it was laid out with direct reference to lateral communications to serve it in time of attack. The main highway connecting the Rome-Cassino-Naples trunk road with the via Appia coastal route runs between Ceprano, near the confluence of the Sacco with the Liri, to Itri west of Formia on the Gulf of Gaeta coast.

The lower Liri valley up which the main Allied attack is directed is the gateway to the valley of the Sacco. It is through Sacco valley above Ceprano that the main road and rail connections between Naples and Rome pass, although an alternate road goes up the Upper Liri valley to intersect the Rome-Pesscara trans-peninsular trunk road at Avezzano.

That makes the Ceprano-Itri lateral a vital link in the defense of the Rome area. There seems little doubt that the Adolf Hitler defense system is keyed to it and to the hills that lie east of it.

George Wilson Retires

BALTIMORE, May 16 (AP)—George R. Wilson, assistant to the treasurer of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, has been retired to devote his time to management of a farm at Boonsboro, Washington county, the company reported today.

Wilson entered the railroad's accounting department in Philadelphia in 1892. The next year he was transferred to the Treasury department and after various promotions, he became assistant to the treasurer in 1936.

He will be succeeded by Harry C. Ashenfelter, who has served twenty-six years in the company's Treasury department.

Carloadings Increase

Carloads handled by the Baltimore and Ohio the week ended May 13, 1944, totaled 75,608 made up of 46,714 loaded on line and 28,894 received from connections. This was an increase of 3,094 over the same week of last year when the total was 72,514 consisting of 43,404 loaded on line and 29,110 received from connections.

The preceding week (the week ended May 6) the total was 75,216 including 46,493 loaded on line and 28,723 received from connections. Carloads handled during the same week of 1930 were 67,296 comprising 45,098 loaded on line and 22,198 received from connections.

Before the war, Nazi Germany was producing synthetic gasoline from coal at the rate of ten million barrels a year.

JIMMY WILL FIND IT'S ALSO EASY TO USE THE "Giants of the Rails"
JIMMY is the owner, the engineer and the conductor of a railroad. With a small control, he can start his train, switch it from track to track, then bring it slowly into a miniature station.
Little does Jimmy realize that in the coming years he will also use the real "giants of the rails" with the same ease as he now does his model train.
For as a man, Jimmy's orders will bring raw materials to his plant by rail. He will consistently call on the railroads for food, fuel and clothing for his family. And when he travels, his ticket will be the key to new comforts, safety and care-free enjoyment.
Today the Baltimore & Ohio's job is war. But plans for peace, also, are being made. New methods of operation are making for even better passenger and freight services. The B & O's 11,000 miles of track, its vast facilities and its 70,000 men and women will be well-equipped and ready, as always, to fill the needs of tomorrow's Americans.

Appeals Conviction

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP) — Attorney Edward V. Broderick filed formal notice today that he was appealing the second degree murder conviction of Wayne Lonergan, who is now serving a thirty-five-year-to-life sentence for the slaying of his heiress wife, Patricia.

Lonergan, 26-year-old former Canadian aircraftman, was convicted by a General Sessions jury March 31.

COLLEGE TRAINING IS OFFERED TO AIR CORPS CADETS

Members of the army air corps enlisted reserve corps who will be 17 years, nine months or less on June 1, may secure from three to nine months of specialized college training at government expense, Tech. Sgt. Clarence Biehn, army recruiter, announced yesterday.

Beginning June 30, there will be no further college courses for aviation cadets on active duty, Biehn added.

Applications may be made until May 20 for training in selected colleges to begin June 1 or shortly afterwards, and continue until the reserve cadet reaches his eighteenth birthday. In the Third Service Command, cadets will be trained at colleges of this area.

Free tuition, clothing, housing, food, transportation, medical attention and textbooks are free to reservists.

All applicants must have completed their high school educations by June 1 or shortly afterwards, Biehn added.

Federal Education Control Is Met by the Barden Bill

THIS NEWSPAPER has expressed its apprehensions over the provisions concerning federal control of the educational plans involved in the veterans' benefit bill, which has been passed by the Senate at Washington. How that attempt can be overcome is embodied in the Barden bill, introduced in the House by the chairman of its Education committee.

Title II, of the Senate bill, sets up a new federal bureau with all the usual complicated appurtenances thereto which, of course, is New Deal hot stuff. Several closely printed columns in Title II deal with the duties of the director of servicemen's education and training, who is to administer the new bureau within the Veterans' Administration, and of an advisory committee to be constituted by the secretaries of war, navy and agriculture, the federal security administrator, the United States commissioner of education, the administrator of veterans' affairs and eight presidential appointees representing the public.

As the new bureau is obliged to draw upon the states for the machinery of selecting the institutions servicemen may attend, the bill further provides that the president may request each state to designate the legally constituted state educational agency or to set up special boards and advisory committees.

Instead of setting up a new federal bureau, however, it would be much simpler and less expensive to designate these legally constituted state agencies to administer the educational benefits, and, what is more important, the time-honored principle of education as a state and local function would be preserved.

The Barden bill serves as the answer to that. It provides for administration through state educational agencies, provides for state advisory committees and counseling services, for state selection of institutions and the use of existing institutions. It provides, in other words, that the veterans be allowed to deal with local people handling matters with which they alone are fully conversant.

As heretofore noted in these columns, representatives of fifty national educational organizations, called together by the American Council on Education, have branded the Senate provision and its companion Rankin bill in the House to be "the most serious threat to the existing state and local control of education that has yet appeared in this country." Further warning is given by Dr. James B. Conant, president of Harvard, that "in education, above all other matters, we must guard the doctrine of local responsibility," and he is right about that, particularly in view of the studied efforts of the New Deal to grab control of education.

The way to do that in the present instance is clear, this being to substitute the Barden bill for Title II of the general measure.

Milk Destruction That Doesn't Make Sense

ATLANTA reports that a thousand gallons of Georgia milk was poured into a downtown sewer of that city because, according to James D. Gay, general manager of the Georgia Milk Producers' Confederation, the Office of Defense Transportation "won't let us deliver milk on Sunday."

The milk had accumulated in the Confederation plant over Sunday and "had to be disposed of," Gay said. "We tried to give it away to charitable organizations but they took only sixty gallons."

This doesn't make sense in view of the enormous destruction going on in the war and the need for conservation—not any more so than the pouring out of milk into gutters when unions and management squabble over their respective rights, and when government policy called for the destruction of farm crops.

The cause of this wastage is, of course, bureaucracy, and it gives another of many reminders of the menace to the national economy inherent therein.

Jap Naval Strategy Will Eventually Be Changed

JAPANESE NAVAL STRENGTH is certain to be changed some day. Since the Battle of the Bismarck Sea the Japanese navy has fled every time an American fleet neared it.

Adm. Yamamoto pursued a policy of avoiding battle when he learned, to his sorrow, that his fleet was not a match for America's ship to ship—or even one American ship to two Japs. Yamamoto either was killed in action or poked a sword in his stomach.

Now his successor, Adm. Koga, who followed Yamamoto's policy of avoiding a major sea fight, also has been "killed in action." The new admiral-in-chief, Soyemy Toyoda, probably will also avoid battle. He has been even more on the run than was Koga, for he has been in command since March, although announcement of his appointment was withheld until now.

Adm. Toyoda will be pushed to the limit by Adm. Nimitz, commander of the American fleet. He, too, may have to be "killed in action" to save his face. Eventually Tokyo will appoint a more daring sea leader who will offer battle to the United States. He, too, will be killed in action, but it will be action in which there will be no face saving and a death probably far more heroic than those of his predecessors.

With the passing of this future Jap naval leader the sea route to Tokyo will be opened and the war in the Pacific will enter its climactic phase.

Roots of Prussian Militarism Must Go

LONDON has reported that the American-British-Russian plans for acceptance of the surrender of Germany have been nearly completed and that they call for complete destruction of the Prussian-built army. These terms are said to differ from those of the last war in that they are surrender terms rather than armistice proposals. In the last war the German army kept itself more or less intact by marching back into Germany. Thus a nucleus was left which spawned another mighty powerful aggressive agency.

But destruction of the Prussian-built army will not be completed by the mere disbandment of it militarily. The roots of Prussian war-mongering instinct lie deeper. The system by which it is possible for it to grow and multiply like onion sets must be scotched. It springs from the Prussian system of primogeniture which keeps vast landed estates under entailment in the hands of powerful Prussian families. Even if the Prussianized army were to be disbanded for the nonce, the seeds of its future growth would be left in the Prussian entailment unless it is revolutionized. A thorough reconstruction is needed there if the Prussian war machinery is to be uprooted and destroyed, as it should be for the sake of world peace and decent civilization.

Dress Style News From St. Louis

FROM ST. LOUIS, where dress manufacturers have foregathered for advance showings of "fashions first" by the Allied Exhibitors and Fashion of America, Inc., comes the information that milady's fall and winter wardrobe will be changed this year but that the average man will not be able to tell it.

The representatives of the manufacturers say the principal change will not be in style but in the improved quality of materials. There will be more all-wool dresses, suits and sweaters in consequence of the larger available stocks of wool.

A further note is that junior dresses, for which St. Louis is one of the foremost markets in the country, are predominately bright and pastel colors with few browns and blacks are being shown. The Mexican influence, seen in a number of bolero style suits with blouses swathing the hips in a fashion similar to a bull fighter's costume, is also responsible for the brighter colors. But the hardest hit because of wartime shortages appear to be in infants' cotton dresses, a shortage that has been pronounced here in Cumberland.

For such easments as this report indicates, milady will find some degree of satisfaction.

This country now has enough small arms to kill everybody in the world, but if that happened there wouldn't be anybody left to pay the taxes.

A chemical process makes soft wood as hard as steel. The rolling pin may yet become the secret weapon of peacetime.

Domestic Quiz

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Women are people who can smile immediately after breakfast at all times, and say to their husbands:

"What shall we have for dinner?"

And men are people who are rarely able to put on their thinking caps—surely not after breakfast, at any rate—and tell their wives what they want for dinner.

Marshall Maslin

What wife ever did receive an intelligent or useful answer to that question when a man isn't hungry? . . . When a man IS hungry he can suggest fifteen or twenty dishes right off. He can mention several kinds of meat, half a dozen vegetables that aren't in season, any number of tempting desserts. Or if he can't suggest a practicable meal or one that's within the ration point limitations or the family budget, he CAN give his wife some starting point for planning.

(A husband hasn't been married many years anyway, before he learns that when his wife asks his advice about food or clothes, she isn't actually expecting a useful answer — but is merely using the strange creature as a starter for her own mental activity. . . . Any husband will say this is true, any wife will deny it vigorously.)

Husbands sometimes wonder why their wives ever do ask them after breakfast: "What do you want for dinner, dear?" And why the wife is annoyed when he isn't half as much help as Charlie McCarthy would be. Men don't understand how a woman CAN think of the next meal two minutes after the last one.

But the answer is so simple that even I can figure it out. . . . It's because running the house is the woman's JOB. She can think about it as coolly as a man can about HIS work. She needn't be hungry to plan a meal. She can plan it as an artist, a craftsman, a workman—after breakfast, after lunch, any old time. If she waited until she was hungry, it would never be done.

Why can't a husband get THAT through his head?

Basic Questions Of Ward Seizure Are Hanging Fire

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

The retreat of government forces from the Montgomery Ward front leaves every basic question unsettled. They are too important to be left hanging in the air.

S. B. Pettengill

The $64 question is whether the government had the right to seize the property at all. That question breaks down into three more; first, did Congress authorize such seizure when it passed the Smith-Connally act? Second, if not, did the president have the power as commander-in-chief to seize the property anyway? Third, is his act subject to judicial review?

This case has put Congress, as well as the president, on the spot. If the country believes that Congress authorized the seizure and Congress does nothing about it, a good many of its members may not return to Washington after the election. The folks want to know this will not happen again. The only way Congress can clear its pants is to pass a new bill making it plain to all concerned that it never intended to authorize the president to seize a retail store.

President on Spot

A vote on such a bill, however, would give congressmen and senators running on the same ticket with the president nothing but the short end of the bear's tail to hold. But if a majority passes the bill it will put the president on the hot potato and he will have to campaign on Mr. Biddle's theory that he had the right to seize the property, Congress or no Congress.

While Congress is pondering what to do, a suit by Montgomery Ward against Assistant Secretary of Commerce Wayne Chatfield-Taylor and Attorney General Biddle for a few million dollars of damages for trespass should ultimately lead to a supreme court decision. Following the Mexican war an army colonel had to pay a judgment of $95,854 for unlawful trespass.

Election Legality a Question

Another question is whether the labor union election was lawful and binding. The National Labor Relations act providing for union elections says that the term employer "shall not include the United States or any state or political sub-division." In short, employes of the public are excluded from the benefits of the act. Wards contends that the workers were employes of the United States on the day the election was held. It is pretty hard to find any fault with their reasoning. The very purpose of the government in taking possession of the property was to assume jurisdiction over the workers to end a strike, on the theory that workers will not strike against the government as their employer.

Beyond these important but legal questions is the broader one of unequal justice now being meted out by the government as between management and men. Assuming, as the government contends, that the store was an essential war facility, the strike was in violation of the Smith-Connally act, as no thirty days' notice to strike had been given. Nevertheless, it is the property of the employer that is seized and it is the president of the company, who had not violated the law, rather than the president of the union, who is dumped out on the sidewalk by armed soldiers.

Orders Not Binding

The War Labor Board has admitted in court action in Washington, D. C., that its orders to Montgomery Ward are not binding, but "advisory" only. Hence Ward's was within its legal rights in refusing to comply. Wards has always contended that the War Labor Board has no lawful authority to require the signing of a union contract which causes a man to lose his job if he resigns or is expelled from a labor union. The strike, however, without giving a thirty day notice, was in violation of an act of Congress.

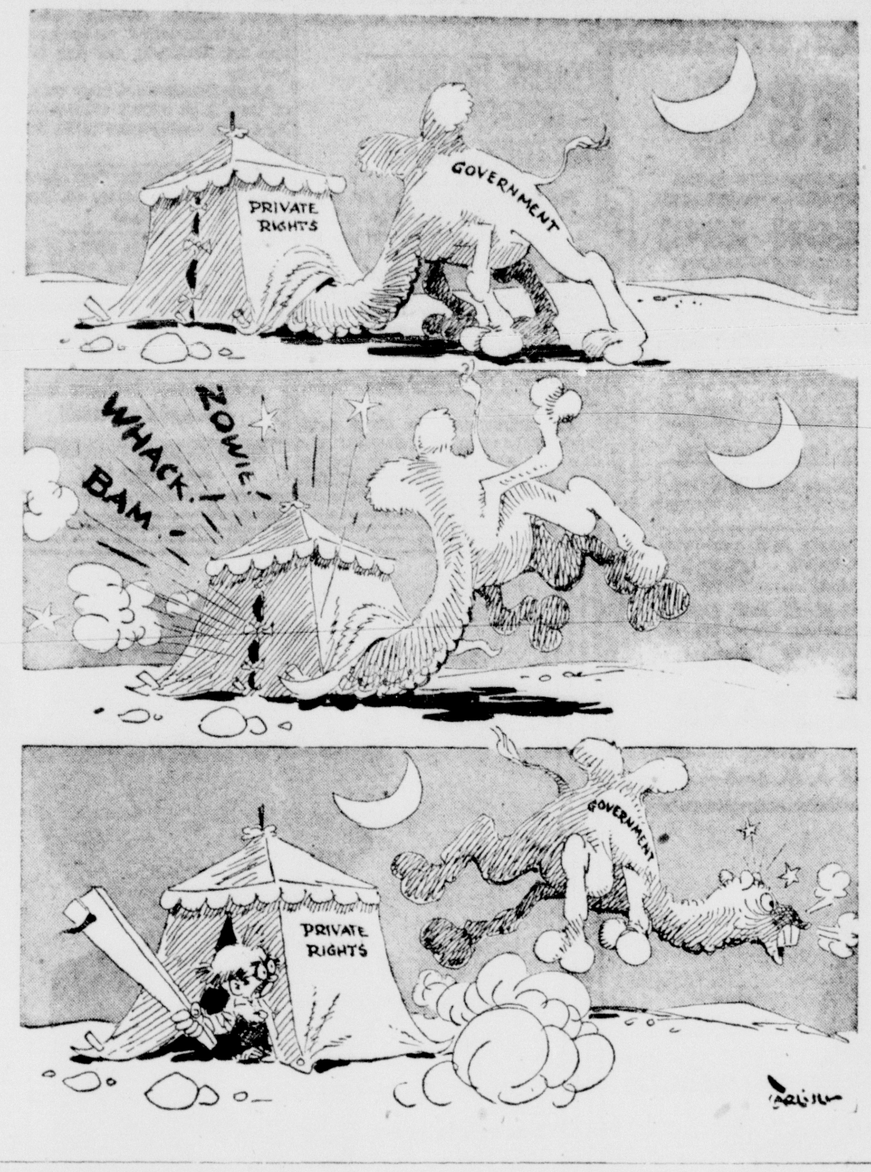

Having stuck his head in a hornet's nest, it is natural for Mr. Roosevelt to say that the election "ends the case." It does nothing of the sort. The question remains whether the government can force an employer against his will to sign a closed shop contract, which Mr. Roosevelt once said was "too much like Hitler."

WAGES COMPARED

THESE WEEKLY WAGE FIGURES, changed to United States dollars by foreign exchange rates, compare United States wages, as of 1939, with those of other nations. The figures are not accurately representative of living standards because in many countries a United States dollar will buy more food, clothing, and so on, than it will here. Even with this allowance, the figures show that living standards are exceedingly low in many countries.

Orlemanski Mission Is Viewed as Trick By Russia To Counteract Polish Faction

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 16.—What is being presented as the great mystery of Father Orlemanski is not much of a mystery to anyone who has followed the sequence and nature of his trip to Moscow to see Stalin.

Paul Mallon

The initiative which made the trip possible came from Stalin. The priest may have asked, but the Russians provided transportation and furnished the necessary diplomatic pressure for a passport. Furthermore, the Springfield Polish priest was preceded by another American who failed to make the headlines or even be mentioned, but whose identity and purpose are no particular mystery—Oscar Lange, the Chicago university professor, and like Orlemanski an opponent of the London Polish government.

Lange remained behind in Russia to inspect two Polish regiments now fighting with the Reds, and some effort was made in the publicity to disassociate him from political activities.

Smart Russian Trick

But the natural, almost obvious purpose of such an American civilian duet, traveling under auspices of Stalin, would be to counteract the political influence of the other Polish faction in the United States advocating the Polish emigre government in London. It was a smart Russian diplomatic trick.

Indeed, the official publicity from Moscow since the visit conclusively confirms this impression. The Communist party organ, Pravda, gave a full column to Orlemanski, May 14, along the line that he was upsetting "the propaganda activities" of the emigre government which broke up relations with Stalin more than a year ago, and favors a Poland free of Russia.

The facts are that plain and simple. Who could better serve Stalin's purpose than a Catholic priest who seems to be about the only one on that side of the fence?

In fact, even though Orlemanski has been sent to a monastery and cannot deliver much of the expected propaganda, the incident has inspired the leftist Polish elements to try to make a cause celebre of the matter, and thus bring pressure on Vatican diplomacy concerning the Polish question.

Passport Regular

Some confusing question has been raised as to why the state department gave a passport, but as the Russians requested and approved the journey, it would have been irregular to decline, although this government's diplomacy suffered as much adverse pressure from the incident as the Vatican. Indeed, Orlemanski's mission likewise reflects opposition to the joint American-British policy on Poland to precisely the same extent.

The real confusion comes only from the political arguments on both sides. For instance, Pravda regards Orlemanski as representing "the freedom and independence of Poland." This is a careless use of those words, apparently signifying a Poland under Russian influence.

The other group uses the same words to signify a Poland under their influence.

In this country there are opposite factions from nearly every small country in Europe, not only Poland, but Rumania, France, Italy, and others, all trying to pull us this way or that, with legitimate argument, clever tricks, propaganda and what not.

From any standpoint except the Russian, Orlemanski's trip itself was ridiculous. In the first place, there is a law against it. An old act of Congress prevents any citizen dealing with a foreign nation.

Borah Once Threatened

Indeed, when such a foremost American official as the late Chairman Borah, of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, once just wrote a letter to Stalin, he was threatened with indictment under this statute. The law is a good one designed to restrict the conduct of foreign relations to the president and State department alone. (Willkie's visit to Stalin was at the direction of the president.)

Stalin may not have known of this law, but he knew that a Springfield Polish priest would have no authority from anyone to deal with him, whether from this government, the Vatican, or even the citizens of Springfield. The priest could have had a propaganda value only.

Thus, while the mission may have sounded offhand like an energetic effort of a religious pastor to try to do some good in a complex situation, it will be difficult for anyone except the priest himself to interpret it that way authentically.

Why We Should Still Fear

From the Uniontown, Pa., Morning Herald

In her column of May 2 Eleanor Roosevelt gives this quotation from Eric Johnston's speech to editors and publishers: "As a people we Americans do not frighten easily. But I would remind you that in the decade before the war we were fed a heavy diet of fear, fear of personal insecurity, fear of another depression, fear of business, fear even of ourselves. Life became just one damned fear after another. The defeatest and pessimist got us so busy fearing other things we forgot to fear that which really is important, and that is big government."

She had quite a bit to say about Mr. Johnston and his speech and ends with this sentence: "Stretch your memories! Where once all were afraid, now very few know fear!" Thing of it, now very few know fear!

This is certainly a startling statement to make at this time with all the world at war, loved ones by the millions scattered all over the earth, facing death, forced to endure conditions worse than death, and in thousands of cases conscious that if life is spared they will be helpless or near helpless invalids until the end.

Of course, Mrs. Roosevelt is not expressing a fact but her own state of mind. She has had no reason at any period of her life to have many fears, but she has had ambitions. Her mind was centered on these, and having realized them to a greater degree than she had even dreamed, she is absorbed by her success and has no room in her mind for fear. There are others who are feeling the same elation, but how few of them! She says war has intensified our self-confidence and pride, but these qualities cannot lessen our fears for our loved ones nor do away with the fear we feel for our own national situation. The home picture shows too much that is wrong and the grave difficulties that are apparent in the foreign situation add greatly to our concern.

Self-confidence and pride were already had in a sufficient degree, and even if they have been increased, they in no wise compensate for or wipe out the horror and devastation of war. But fear is rightly with us. Fear for our republic, our constitution and our Bill of Rights. These were conceived by the minds of men who thought not of their own power and ambition but of the greatest good for the greatest number in a land that was to be free. Particularly was it to be free from big government. If we are to "stretch our memories" we will stretch them to a time when the United States believed in America, not in a conglomeration of European theories of practices.

Soviet Relations Need Patching Up, Lawrence Says

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Relations with Russia have not been particularly improved lately. This is not just because an American priest of Polish extraction who conferred with Marshal Stalin has come back to find his colleagues in the Catholic church critical of his mission. It is primarily because there is a wide gulf between the Soviet government and the United States government which in the interest of harmony and unity among allies it has been thought desirable to camouflage.

David Lawrence

The truth of the matter is that despite the splendid efforts of such able diplomats as Averell Harriman and others who have gone to Moscow to develop a better understanding between Russia and the United States, there are troublesome factors which nevertheless tend to keep the two nations apart.

No Understanding Yet

It is, for example, a matter of realistic fact that the Catholic church and the Russian government have not come to an understanding. The brief expression of opinion which Stalin wrote in a message made public through the Rev. Stanislaus Orlemanski is not in itself persuasive. The Vatican has a large diplomatic corps and so has the Russian government. If the Holy See had anything to say to the Soviet government or vice versa, London is a central place where there is plenty of opportunity for conversation and understanding.

The important fact is that an institution as prominent in world affairs as the Catholic church has not been able to reach an understanding as yet with the Soviet government on religious freedom. While many Americans do not understand the position of the Holy See in world affairs and think of it perhaps as something outside of American diplomacy itself, nevertheless it is a fact that freedom of worship has always been a cardinal point in the "Four Freedoms." As long as there is a lack of understanding between the Catholic church and the Soviet government there will be many in America who will questions the validity of the "Four Freedoms" as a slogan or set of war aims.

Minority Groups Recognized

The mission of the Springfield priest, who had been active in Polish-American affairs, undoubtedly was related to a desire to establish some kind of an understanding on behalf of the Poles, and there is no doubt that the Soviet government is conscious of the vast number of Poles in the United States, many of them of American birth but Polish parentage, who have a deep interest in the solution of the Polish problem. While the United States government has never been influenced to take any direct action in diplomacy by reason of minority groups, there has been a tendency throughout the last few decades to bring tactfully to the attention of foreign governments the existence of large minority groups in the United States who have a sympathy with their former countrymen.

British Policy Influenced

Thus, there is no doubt that the Irish-American groups inside the United States played a large part in influencing British policy. During the last war President Wilson had different conversations of informal, unofficial character with representatives of the British government in the hope that the Irish problem might be resolved in whole or in part. The same precedent undoubtedly is being followed in order that the American government may use its influence to secure from Russia a tolerant attitude toward the establishment of a Polish state which would be truly independent.

Sooner or later there must be a frank discussion of Soviet affairs and an attempt to bring the Russian people closer to the American people. Many observers have felt that all these questions could be left until the war is over, but it is doubtful whether as much influence can be exerted once hostilities are over and lend-lease aid is ended as can be exerted today when the exigencies of war require the closest kind of co-operation.

Moral Is Simple

From the Wheeling, W. Va., Intelligencer

When we killed the little pigs and plowed under the corn to avert a "depressing" food surplus, nature gave us a spell of dry weather and we wound up with the closest thing to a food shortage this county ever experienced.

Now the plans are going wrong again. Last year, farmers and victory gardeners were urged to produce plenty of vegetables. This spring, the Washington authorities are warning against the prospect of an unmanageable supply of fresh vegetables. And the egg situation, too, is out of hand. Producers were told last year that they would receive an average support price of thirty-four cents per dozen for eggs this year. So they went into egg production in a big way. The output jumped eighty per cent. Eggs are piling up in drying plants and outside overcrowded storage lockers. Prices to farmers in the midwest have dropped to twenty cents. Confusion reigns. The War Food Administration admits that eggs were shipped by the carload from New England into an already overloaded Iowa market, and that "the country now has more eggs than it knows what to do with."

The moral, we think, is quite simple. A planned agricultural economy simply doesn't work. The more we do to blueprint agriculture and direct it, the farther out of line it gets.

Rotarians Hear Dr. Church Talk On Man's Desires

Describes Possible Improvements Applicable to Men and Nations

Rotarians were taken on some adventures in human relations yesterday at their weekly luncheon at the Central Y.M.C.A., by Dr. E. E. Church, president of Potomac State college, at Keyser, and member of the Keyser Rotary club.

In his talk, Dr. Church posited two fundamental theses, or assumptions, namely that man is a gregarious animal and that he is an acquisitive animal, drawing from both the questions whether, in regard to the first, it could be improved upon and to the second, whether it could be directed.

Both questions were answered in the affirmative with particular application to the four Rotary objectives of friendship, professional, community and international services.

The desire to possess, own, control, inherent in man, Dr. Church illustrated by the five "I wants" listed by an eminent psychologist, Dr. Stark, namely, food, comfort, a mate, power and approbation and to these he added one of his own, this being the desire to be of some service.

The improvements the speaker outlined as possible and the means of making them so were stressed with respect to the relationship of nations in the same manner they are applicable to the relationships among men.

Tribute was paid to the memory of Dr. George Guy Shoemaker, for many years an active Rotarian, and a committee was named to draw up resolutions of respect.

Edward R. Allan, president, gave notice that the club would be host to the Kiwanis and Lions clubs next Tuesday in the "Y" gymnasium on the occasion of the series of meetings to be held here under auspices of the national organization of Jews and Christians.

Guests of the club included J. S. Yammer, New York city; Carl Low, Martinsburg, W. Va.; A. J. Yoder, Grantsville Rotarian; S. S. Susse, Meyersdale, Pa.; W. H. Buchanan, Altoona, Pa., and H. E. Cooper and John R. Wilkinson, both of Cumberland.

LIEUT. BRANT, LA VALE, GIVEN SPECIAL HONOR

Lieut. Ralph H. Brant, of LaVale, was the United States Army airman, who had the honor of being selected to pilot a B-17 bomber which had been named "Fortress McHenry," by readers of the Baltimore News-Post.

After he had been selected to take over the big bomber, a special dedication ceremony was planned by his commander, at the British base of the Fortress group. However the grim business of war came first and Lieut. Brant took off the next day on a bombing mission over Berlin and the following day saw the plane over the coast of France for bombing of German secret installations there.

On his return from the coast raid Lieut. Brant told the correspondent for the Baltimore paper that the raid was easy. They were not attacked by fighters and the plane suffered only few flak holes.

In naming Lieut. Brant as pilot of the Fortress, Col. Frederick Castle commander, described him as "a tall broad-shouldered youth who was employed at the Celanese plant in Cumberland." He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph R. Brant, LaVale and is married to a Cumberland girl, the former Mildred Boch, now living in Washington. He is a 1936 graduate of Allegany high school.

New Revenue-Raising Measures Discussed By Mayor, Council

Ways and means of raising additional revenue to meet the increasing costs of city government were discussed for two hours and thirty minutes Monday at an executive session of the mayor and city council in the city hall council chamber.

Mayor Thomas S. Post listed a number of items which could bring the added revenues and several were either tossed out by a vote of the council or declared not workable because they conflicted with state laws.

Heskett checked the proposals with present city ordinances and state laws and gave his opinion on practically every measure suggested by the city's chief executive.

"We must raise more revenue and we're going to find ways to do it," Mayor Post declared.

The meeting was continued until 11 o'clock this morning and the mayor last evening indicated that a final report on the sessions may not be available until this evening.

Others attending the session included Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, and Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer.

HEALTH QUIZ

	YES	NO
Do you have poor digestion?	☐	☐
Do you feel headachy after eating?	☐	☐
Do you get sour or upset easily?	☐	☐
Do you feel tired—listless?	☐	☐

Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. But what most people don't know is that Nature must produce about two pints of the digestive juice—liver bile—each day to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested, lie sour and heavy within you.

Thus, it is simple to see that one way to aid digestion is to increase the flow of liver bile. Now, Carter's Little Liver Pills start to increase this flow quickly for thousands—often in as little as thirty minutes. When bile flow increases, your digestion may improve. And, soon you're on the road to feeling better—which is what you're after.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's, taken as directed, aid digestion after Nature's own order. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today—only 25c. You'll be glad you did.

Brief Item

Members of the Arion band, who visit Allegany cemetery annually on Memorial day, have suggested that any exercises held at the cemetery be scheduled for 6:30 p. m., instead of in the afternoon. With many people unable to be off from work during the afternoon hours, it is felt by band members that the 6:30 hour would afford a larger number of persons to attend the exercises.

Piedmont Council Orders Citizens To Connect Sewers

Mayor Bucy Investigate Repairs Needed on City Scales

By GEORGE DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT, May 16 — Councilman William T. Davis suggested at the meeting of the mayor and Piedmont city council Monday evening that property owners on the lower end of the left side of Paxton street be notified they must connect up with the main sewer which was placed or renewed on that part of the street last fall. To date no connection have been made by property owners.

Davis said he had investigated the situation a few days ago and found the sewers were broken, causing a health menace to the community. It was ordered that the city clerk notify property owners at once as to this condition and proper connections be made to main sewer.

Wade Sagers was granted a permit to build a side porch on his residence on Frederick street.

Mayor Harry Bucy read a letter from Fairbanks, Morse and Company which asserted the company was unable, due to the manpower shortage, to offer prompt service to the city's scales.

The mayor stated he could have the platform of the scales removed and have under parts examined to see what repairs were needed.

A communication was read from the Memorial Day committee asking the officials to take part in the Memorial Day parade and asked a contribution. A donation of $10 was ordered.

The Red Cross, through Councilman Harold Fredlock, asked for a donation to help them meet their quota and a contribution of $15 was ordered.

HELEN VINSON and Sydney Blackmer in a scene from Republic's thrilling new mystery drama, "The Lady and the Monster," which opens Sunday at the Maryland theater.

Theaters

Name Band Musicals Go Over in Big Way

When Columbia Picture Company had a sixteen mm. film printed of "Reveille with Beverly," its last year's sensational musical with dance star Ann Miller and four top bands including Bob Crosby, Freddie Slack, Duke Ellington and Count Basie, for overseas distribution, it didn't realize that it was starting a trend for itself. However, that was the inescapable fact.

So successful was "Reveille with Beverly" here, and with the smaller size film at the front, that Columbia followed it with "What's Buzzin' Cousin" with Freddie Martin and His Orchestra, and now has "Jam Session" with six name bands on the screen of the Maryland theater.

Everyone of course knew that bands were particularly in favor with the boys at the front. But no one suspected this sixteen mm. film would ever cause the sensation which it did.

'Phantom Lady,' Ominous Thriller, Almost Silent

More than half of Universal's "Phantom Lady," coming Thursday to the Liberty theater, is silent, completely without sound effects or dialogue. It was so filmed purposely by Director Robert Siodmak, who had his reasons. He did not revert to the pantomimic art of silent films without those reasons.

A mystery story, "Phantom Lady" is a highly photogenic "lady," Siodmak explains:

"That is why I decided to tell the story in large part through implication and mood, rather than by action and dialogue alone."

As an example of what Siodmak means by the technique of implication, no less than three principal characters are murdered in the course of the absorbing film. But it is neither a "horror" picture nor a "crime" thriller, thus no part of any of the slayings is shown on the screen.

Mood is assured by virtue of the fact that all of the action, except for one brief street scene and a courtroom sequence, takes place at night. That the mysterious killer is a psychopathic intellectual also helps.

Island Chief Slaps Hitler in New Film

Ian Keith without a doubt has the most enviable job in Hollywood today.

To the handsome actor falls the delightful honor of slapping the face of the fanatical Nazi leader, Adolph Hitler, pulling the Fuehrer's mustache and finally sending him to his doom in a captured submarine.

All of this pleasant duty falls to Keith in Hal Roach's new streamliner, "That Nazty Nuisance," a United Artists release opening tomorrow at the Embassy theater. In "That Nazty Nuisance" Keith plays the role of a chieftain in a country somewhere in the vicinity of the Baltic sea. The actor declares that he never could enjoy a role so much if he lived a thousand years and acted continuously.

"That Nazty Nuisance" is a sequel to Hal Roach's earlier anti-Nazi picture and again features Bobby Watson in the role of Hitler, Joe Devlin as Mussolini and Johnny Arthur as Suki Yaki and Jean Porter, Henry Victor, Ed (Strangler) Lewis and Abe (King Kong) Kashey.

Instead of feeling miserable on my "difficult days", now I take the new Chi-Ches-Ters Pills. The new Chi-Ches-Ters have a special ingredient which is intended to relieve the tension that causes functional distress. It works by relaxing the affected part, not merely by deadening pain. It's a grand preparation for simple periodic distress. The new Chi-Ches-Ters contain an added iron factor—which acts as a tonic on your blood. Another reason they usually satisfy. Next month, be sure to try the new Chi-Ches-Ters Pills. Ask your druggist tomorrow for a 50c size, and follow directions carefully.

Addition to Vocational School is Requested By Superintendent

Permission to erect a frame building, 30 by 90 feet, adjoining the vocational training center on Paca street was requested Monday by Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools, after he appeared before the mayor and council. He also requested an agreement for continued use of the city lot at that point.

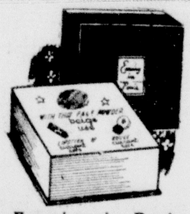

Council instructed Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, to prepare the necessary lease. Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, said the building code does not permit erection of a frame building at that point but Heskett suggested the possibilities of issuing a temporary permit.

Attendance at adult night classes had grown from twenty-three in 1923 to 700, previous to the start of the war, Kopp pointed out that a frame structure can be built without cost to the county since the federal government would finance frame construction as it would be part of a training program for wounded servicemen.

Ratifying Treaties By Congress Is Favored by Public

Informed Public and Voters Agree on Issue, Survey Reveals

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., May 16—When the North Carolina Democratic State Convention recently adopted a plank in its platform calling for a Constitutional amendment to allow for ratification of treaties by a majority vote of both branches of Congress, it was reflecting a belief of an increasing majority of Americans.

The number of voters who think the best method of ratifying United States treaties is by approval of a majority in both the House and Senate—instead of by the present two-thirds majority of the Senate alone—is today sixty per cent, as compared to fifty-four per cent in a similar poll published last October.

The issue was put to a cross-section of voters throughout the nation as follows:

"When the war is over, it will be necessary for the Allies to decide on peace terms for the Axis. Which one of these three ways would you, personally, favor as the best way to have peace treaties approved after the war?"

The three alternatives from which those interviewed chose follow, with a tabulation of their replies:

	October	Today
Approval Only by the President	7%	7%
Approval by President and a majority of Whole Congress	54	60
Approval by President and Two-Thirds of Senate ..	25	19
Don't Know	14	14

In view of the fact that this issue is one which involves a question not widely discussed or debated by the man-on-the-street, it is of interest to compare the vote of informed persons—those who can prove their knowledge of present ratification requirements—with the views of all voters, both informed and uninformed.

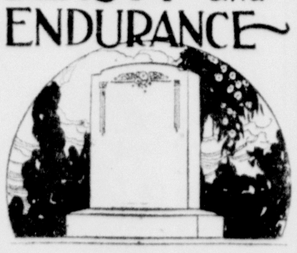

When this comparison is made, the views of the informed group coincide with the views of all people, with majorities in both groups viewing approval of treaties by a simple majority in both branches of Congress as the best method.

The chief difference between informed opinion and the opinion of all voters is that fewer among the informed group are without opinions and more favor retention of the Senate two-thirds ratification rule than is the case with all voters.

Here is a table showing the vote of the informed group:

Informed Voters
Approval Only by President	4%
Approval by President and a Majority of Whole Congress	61
Approval by President and Two-Thirds of Senate	33
No Opinion	2

Fort Hill at Beall
Hyndman at LaSalle

A couple of surprises marked the opening of the second and final round of the Bi-State Interscholastic Baseball Conference race here yesterday afternoon when the Beall High Mountaineers, of Frostburg, stopped the LaSalle High Explorers, 3-1, in eight innings on the North End Playground field, and the Allegany High Campers routed Hyndman (Pa.) high, 14-7, at Campobello for their first triumph of the season.

The result of the contests still leaves the Explorers, unbeaten until yesterday, holding a one-game lead with Beall's victory enabling the Mountaineers to tie Hyndman for the runnerup berth.

Johnny Workman, Beall twirler who was registering his third straight pitching triumph, scattered three hits but almost lost the game after his teammates had broken a 1-1 deadlock in the top of the eighth.

Trailing by two runs going into the bottom of the extra stanza, the Explorers loaded the bases with one out when Joe Langan and Jack Kauffman singled and Jack Steiner was safe on an error. It was Second Baseman Nick Harris who saved the game for Beall when he pulled in Clay "Red" Ingram's drive and doubled Kauffman off the keystone sack to end the battle.

LaSalle Scores in Seventh

The Mountaineers, who had scored once in the first on Jim Hughes's single, an error of Ben Hughes's grounder by Tommy Geatz and Joe Carter's wild throw to home after he had fielded Ken Price's grounder, rallied in the eighth for two runs with Price opening with a double, Bill Sonnenberg lashing out a single but being caught at second, Tommy Geatz bobbling Jim Dunn's bounder, Harris getting a single, a passed ball and a fielder's choice.

LaSalle manufactured its only tally in the seventh, Jim Fahey was hit by a pitched ball and stole second, moved to third on Norman Geatz's infield out and scored when Jim Hughes, after fielding Charley Cumiskey's grounder, pulled Sonnenberg off first with his throw.

Norman Geatz gave up seven hits in going the distance for LaSalle and fired the third strike across ten times. It was his first defeat in three games.

Allegany Wins in Fifth

Coach Walter L. "Bill" Bowers's Alleganians stowed their first victory of the season away in the fifth inning when they banged across five runs on singles by Jim Evans, Bob Price and Bill Thompson, a walk, two errors and a sacrifice.

The Campers manufactured one run in the first on Dick DeHart's double, walks to Evans and Lou Baker and a hit batsman with DeHart being forced in.

Allegany scored three times in each the second and third. In the second, George Mothersole walked, Johnny Cox and DeHart each singled with the latter pilfering second and Evans connected for one base. A walk, Jim Radcliffe's single, Cox's single, another walk and Lou Baker's single produced the three runs in the third.

The Bowersmen added two runs for good measure in the sixth on Mothersole's single, an error, a sacrifice and Evans's third hit of the afternoon.

Hyndman Starts Early

Hyndman counted twice in the first on singles by George Cook, Stan Brooks and Jim Pick and Gerald Harden's sacrifice. In the following frame, the Pennsylvanians gathered another brace of tallies on Edmund Mangus's triple, Evans's fielder's choice with the ball being played home too late to get Mangus, Evans's stolen base, Cook's fielder's choice with Evans out at third, Harden's single, a walk to Brooks and a hit batsman which forced in Cook.

Hyndman scored its other tallies in the sixth on Curtis Stahlman's double, Cox's error, and singles by Evans, Cook and Harden.

Harden started on the peak for Hyndman and returned to the mound later in the game after giving way to Burns in the opening frame. Bill Bartlett worked one and one-third frames for Allegany with Evans getting credit for the victory. The box scores:

Cubs Top Dodgers 7-6 after Staging Uphill Struggle

Dixie Walker Gets Three for Five To Boost Batting Mark

CHICAGO, May 16 (AP) — Bill Nicholson's double to right centerfield shoved Ival Goodman across the platter in the last of the ninth today to give Chicago a 7-6 edge over Brooklyn after an uphill struggle.

The Dodgers knocked out Rookie Dale Alderson when they scored three times in the first and continued to pick up runs on Paul Derringer until Hank Wyse came in to stop them cold in the last three innings.

Trailing 6-1 and handcuffed by Davis's two-hit pitching, the Bruins broke out with four runs in the sixth on a combination of singles by Billy Schuster, Phil Cavarretta, Goodman, Dominic Dallessandro and Don Johnson and a walk.

Johnson singled in Dallessandro who had walked to tie it up in the eighth and Nicholson came through with his big wallop after two were out in the ninth. Nicholson socked his second homer of the year in the second inning.

Dixie Walker collected three singles in five at bats to up his average to .424 while Catcher Bobby Bragan batted in two runs with a perfect day at bat on two singles and a double in three tries. The box:

Alumni Tossers Hand Fort Hill 5 to 3 Setback

Keller, Collins and Reynolds Limit Sentinels to Four Hits

A trio of Alumni hurlers limited Coach Bobby Cavanaugh's Fort Hill High Sentinels to four hits yesterday afternoon on the school field and the Grads won, 5-3, to square accounts for a 9-6 setback earlier in the season.

The Alumni scored all of their runs in the fourth and fifth frames, getting to Ralph Beard for a single counter in the fourth and then driving him to cover in the following inning when they chased their other four markers across the plate.

Roy Reed's base on balls and singles by Nick Perlozzo and Milton Hart produced the first-inning run while in the fourth, Harold Chaney singled and stole second, Charles Callis and Chet Collins walked, Reed's fielder's choice was played too late to retire a man and a wild pitch and an error completed the damage.

Fort Hill scored once in the third on Beard's single, Don Whiteman's fielder's choice with Beard out at second, Whiteman's stolen base, an error, a fielder's choice by Andy Lewis with Whiteman out at home, two passed balls and a wild pitch.

The other Sentinel counters came in the fourth. Carroll Mahaney singled, advanced on an error and was thrown out at third by Catcher Reed. Eddie Siebert was hit by a pitched ball and Whiteman and Lewis singled.

Derl Keller, Collins and Lou Reynolds worked on the hill for the Grads with Collins receiving credit for the victory. Beard, relieved by Ronald Armbruster in the fifth, was charged with the defeat. The box score:

Browns Defeat Boston Red Sox In Twelfth, 7-3

Vic Johnson Blows Up after Missing Chance To Win Game

BOSTON, May 16 (AP)—After missing a chance to win over the regulation distance, Vic Johnson, of the Boston Red Sox, blew high and handsome in the twelfth inning today, presenting the St. Louis Browns with a four-run cluster which gave them a 7 to 3 triumph.

Mark Christman opened the explosive inning by singling sharply to left and moved up a notch on a sacrifice by Milt Byrnes. Myron Hayworth brought him home with a single to right.

Don Gutteridge drew a base on balls and then Al Zarilla boomed a triple deep into the right centerfield corner to score Hayworth and Gutteridge. Mike Ryba replaced Johnson on the mound for Boston but McQuinn added another tally when his single to left escorted Zarilla home.

The Sox held a 3 to 2 advantage going into the ninth inning but with one out in the St. Louis half, Ellis Clary obliged with a double into the left field corner. Gutteridge scratched a hit through the box when his roller took a bad hop over Johnson's head, Clary going to third.

Mike Kreevich batted in the tying run when the Sox missed connections with a double play by an eyelash on his bounder to Bobby Doerr. The box:

Bainbridge Wins, 15-3

BAINBRIDGE, Md., May 16 (AP)—Blasting fourteen hits off two pitchers, the Bainbridge Naval Training Center Commodores romped over a hapless Aberdeen Proving Ground baseball team, 15-3, in a seven-inning game today.

Sherry Robertson, former Washington Senator third sacker, paced the winners' attack with three doubles and a home run out of five times at bat, driving in five runs.

O'Brien Is Rejected

PITTSBURGH, May 16 (AP)—Pittsburgh Pirate Outfielder Tommy O'Brien was rejected at a Selective Service examination here today because of an old knee injury, possibly suffered when he was playing football for the University of Tennessee. His home is at Anniston, Ala.

Stan Musial, Card Slugger, Accepted For Navy Service

Redbirds Face Outfield Problem and Will Be Weaker at Bat

ST. LOUIS, May 16 (AP) — Stan Musial, the St. Louis Cardinals' hard-hitting outfielder, passed his pre-induction physical examination today and joined his teammate, Danny Litwhiler, in awaiting call to report for service in the navy.

Litwhiler has been playing on borrowed time since April 18, when he went through the mill at Jefferson Barracks. Musial will be able to continue with the Cardinals for three weeks or more until his draft board summons him for active duty.

Departure of the two sluggers will leave the Cardinals seriously shorthanded in the outfield and decidedly weaker at bat. Johnny Hopp, the other regular outfielder, was rejected for military service recently. As replacements for Musial and Litwhiler, the Cardinals have only over-age Pepper Martin, 4-F Augie Bergama and A-1 Debs Garms.

As a sophomore, Musial was voted the most valuable player in the National League last year when he batted .357 to top both circuits. He and Litwhiler are among the ten leading hitters this season and their punch has been an important factor in putting the Cardinals in front in the pennant race.

Musial's pre-induction "vacation" comes at an opportune time on the Redbirds' schedule. The next twenty-one games are with the eastern clubs, which currently are not too strong, and Musial's continued presence in the lineup will give the Cardinals a chance to fatten their lead against the coming service calls.

In addition to the navy-bound outfilders, Pitcher Harry Gumbert has been accepted for the army. Catcher Walker Cooper and Shortstop Martin Marion both have been classified for limited service, although there is no indication that either faces an early summons. The Cardinals have only one other catcher, Ken O'Dea, and only one infield replacement, George Fallon, who was rejected for military service today.

Walker Retains Lead in Batting

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP)—Dixie Walker, of Brooklyn, held tight to his National League batting lead with a .414 average on thirty-six hits in eighty-seven at bats as the first month of the season ended.

Including games of May 15, the Dodger flychaser sported a fifty-three-point edge on the Giants' Phil Weintraub, who zoomed into the runnerup spot on a .361 mark.

Max Macon, of Boston, a converted pitcher who has taken over the first base job, moved into contention at .355, three points better than Danny Litwhiler, of St. Louis at .352. Macon also was the stolen base leader with six.

Max Lanier, of the Cardinals, had a hammerlock on the pitching honors with five straight victories although Clyde Shoun, of the Reds, stole the headlines for a day with his no-hit, no-run job against Boston.

Walker had collected the most hits, thirty-six, but Teammate Frenchy Bordagaray and Buster Adams, of the Phils, had scored the most runs, twenty. Tommy Holmes, of Boston, swatted ten doubles to top that department, Pittsburgh's Johnny Barrett led in triples with six and Litwhiler, of the Cards, moved into a tie with Brooklyn's Howie Schultz for home run leadership at four.

Schultz clung to his runs batted in lead, adding five more during the week for a total of twenty-five. But dropping out of the list of ten leading hitters along with Augie Galan, Ken O'Dea, Jimmy Wasdell and Holmes. Newcomers in the select circle were Eric Tipton, of the Reds, Johnny Rucker and Weintraub, of the Giants, Ted Cieslak, of the Phils, Bordagaray and Macon.

Fire Sweeps Baseball Park at Charleston

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 16 (AP)—Only the playing field and the bleachers were left today after a fire swept Charleston's baseball park. Owner Watt B. Powell said his estimate placed the loss at $10,000.

Three years ago a similar blaze destroyed the grandstand at the park, once the home of the Charleston Senators, of the Middle Atlantic League. It was rebuilt on a smaller scale.

Thurman Tucker Tops in American

CHICAGO, May 16 (AP)—It was in the fall of 1942 that the Chicago White Sox plucked Thurman Tucker from the Texas League on the guarantee of Rogers Hornsby, then manager of Fort Worth, that the kid belonged in the majors.

The bespectacled, 26-year-old outfielder now is leading the American League in batting with a .368 mark computed through Monday's games.

Tucker, who is awaiting induction into the navy, now is tuning up his bat to prove he can hit as well as field. His lead was challenged seriously, however, by Bob Swift, Detroit backstopper, who had clubbed .364—only four points behind Tucker. Nick Etten, New York Yankees first baseman who led the batting race last week, collected only three blows in twenty-seven times up during the week and nosedived from a .476 average to .333.

In the specialized department, Stan Spence, of Washington and Frank Hayes, of Philadelphia, were tied for the home run lead with five apiece. Don Gutteridge, St. Louis, Johnny Lindell, New York, and Wally Moses, Chicago, each had belted three triples. Boston's Bobby Doerr and Cleveland's Roy Cullenbine shared the doubles honors with eight two-base hits, and Vern Stephens, of St. Louis, was tops in runs-batted-in with twenty.

Johnson, Stirnweiss, Spence and Washington's Joe Kuhel each had scored twenty runs; and Stirnweiss and Kuhel also were tied for the base-stealing head, each with six thefts. Hall and Torres had the most hits, thirty-one.

Billy Knox, Noted Bowler, Dies at 57

PHILADELPHIA, May 16 (AP)—William J. (Billy) Knox, 57, Philadelphia's most noted bowler, died in a hospital today after he was stricken upon returning from a bowling officials' conference at Elizabeth, N. J.

Knox was the first man to roll a perfect game in an American Bowling Congress tournament. That was in 1913. He participated in the first ABC in 1906 and in most of them since. In 1923 he captured the all-events championship with a score of 2,019 that stood as a record for ten years.

In 1927 he rolled a world's record 279-278-300—857 score for three games.

White Sox Break Borowy's Streak

NEW YORK, May 16—(AP)—Hank Borowy's winning streak of eleven pitching victories, excluding a triumph in the 1943 World Series and two in the spring training season was halted today when the Chicago White Sox batted him out of the box in the sixth frame and went on to defeat the New York Yankees, 10 to 4.

Borowy was clouted for ten hits during his five and a third innings on the mound.

Thurman Tucker, center fielder for the Sox, poked out a pair of doubles and two singles in five trips to the plate. Rollie Hemsley and Bud Metheny homered for the losers. The box:

Braves Even Up Series with Reds

CINCINNATI, May 16 (AP)—Boston's Braves evened up their shutout series with the Cincinnati Reds today, taking the fourth game, 1 to 0, to give each team a pair of whitewash jobs.

The Reds put a little more drama into their two wins, with Bucky Walters throwing a one-hitter Sunday and Clyde Shoun a no-hitter yesterday, but today's six-hit pitching by Nate Andrews counted just as much in the standings.

Singles by Charley Workman and Clyde Kluttz, a sacrifice, and a fly, produced the Boston run in the second inning. The Reds chased Andrews with three singles of their six hits in the ninth but Al Javery stopped the threat. The box:

Soldiers with Wings, on the Blue at 10:30, have listed both Akim Tamiroff and Lynn Bari, of the screen, as guests . . . Because of what are described as "script difficulties," the MBS First Nighter has had to change its play schedule somewhat. Prices Stiffen for Favorite Stocks after Mixed Opening

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP) — The stock market acted better today as buyers took on modest commitments of rails and specialties although many leaders were unable to negotiate much if any progress.

Prices stiffened for favorites after a mixed opening and volume expanded in relation to yesterday's smallest activity for a full session since last August. Transfers totalled 536,080 shares against 337,030 Monday.

Among stronger issues, Masonite and National Can touched 1944 peaks.

Advancers included Santa Fe, Great Northern, Northern Pacific, New York Central, American Ice, Park and Tilford, Newport Industries, National Container, R-K-O Common and Preferred, Allegheny Preferred, Good year, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, Oliver Farm and Caterpillar Tractor. In the declining ranks were Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Boeing, du Pont, Johns-Manville, Allied Chemical and Texas Company.

Tilting upward in the Curb were Brown-Forman Distillers, American Cyanamid "B", Cities Service and Aluminum of America. Colt's patent fire arms dropped another point. The aggregate here was 119,070 shares versus 113,890 the day before.

Selective strength in rail issues high-lighted the bond market. Turnover was $6,889,900 face value against $5,132,500 Monday.

United States governments were steady.

Camp for German Prisoners of War To Be Established At Green Ridge

200 Men Will Arrive in Two Weeks To Cut Pulpwood and Work in Orchards

Establishment of a camp for 200 German prisoners of war in the Green Ridge state forest, twenty miles east of Cumberland, in "about two weeks" was disclosed to The Cumberland News yesterday afternoon by headquarters of the Third Service Command in Baltimore.

The prisoners will be moved from Fort George G. Meade to the Allegany county camp and will be used in cutting pulpwood and picking peaches and apples in nearby orchards, according to the story approved yesterday by the bureau of public relations of the army in Washington.

Fifty Italian prisoners, also from Fort Meade, will arrive at the site this week to renovate the former Civilian Conservation Corps camp that will house the German prisoners, officers of the Third Service Command, under whose jurisdiction the camp will operate, said.

Italians To Check Facilities

Censorship regulations pertaining to the movement of troops prohibit announcement of the exact dates the war prisoners will be brought to Green Ridge.

The Italian prisoners are slated to check on all facilities at the camp, move in the necessary housing equipment such as beds, and see that the barracks themselves are in a clean condition when the Germans arrive, officers of the Third Service Command said.

The officers added that the size of the guard over the prisoners will vary with the jobs they perform.

Joseph F. Kaylor, state forester, when contacted last night, estimated there are 25,000 cords of pulpwood available in the 30,000-acre forest and pointed to the proximity of peach and apple orchards in the Hancock section.

No Loss of Time

According to Kaylor, the "project offers an ideal opportunity to work prisoners in two operations so that there will not be any loss of time in food and pulpwood procurement."

A plan to put war prisoners to work in the Green Ridge forest was first made public in January, but since that time there has been no further announcement.

Referring to that plan, Kaylor said he does not know if as many cords of pulpwood can be cut now as previously estimated because of the lateness of the season and the approaching apple and peach harvest. He added that "food comes before pulpwood."

To Provide Supervisors

Under present plans, Kaylor said, the state department of forests and parks will provide one supervisor for each twenty-five prisoners who will work out of the camp. Men already have been selected for these positions, he stated, and will supplement military personnel.

Bearing out Kaylor's statement that "food comes before pulpwood," a member of the Hancock Fruitgrowers Association said last night the prisoners will be used in the woods cutting pulpwood in the months when they are not needed by orchardmen, but added that the latter will have "first call" if they are short of help in the thinning and harvest seasons, and particularly during the apple harvest.

He said the fruitgrowers association had submitted a formal request, approved by the War Manpower Commission, for the prisoners because of the critical labor shortage.

Orchardists To Pay Part

The orchardists, he added, will use the prisoners only about two months of the year, for the September and October harvest seasons and possibly for the brief thinning season in June. He also pointed out that the orchardists have agreed to finance a proportionate share of the estimated $8,000 to $10,000 required for materials to rehabilitate the camp.

Pointing out that one of the largest peach and apple crops in some time is expected this year, the fruitgrower said the war prisoner labor will save a lot of fruit that otherwise would go unharvested.

WILL BE HONORED — Dr. George E. Bennett, of Baltimore, nationally prominent orthopedic surgeon, will be the guest of honor at a dinner marking the tenth anniversary of the league's incorporation Friday, May 26 at 7 p. m., in the Cumberland Country Club. Invitations to the event have been sent to friends of the league by officers and directors. Dr. Bennett has conducted orthopedic clinics here two and three times annually since 1926.

Fourteen Senior Councilors Named For YMCA Camp

Mildred Cookerly Placed in Charge of Water Safety Program

Fourteen senior councilors have been named for the thirty-sixth annual Central Y. M. C. A. camp for boys which will open Sunday, July 16 at the new camp site in the Pleasant Valley Recreation Area near Bittinger, Garrett county, it was announced yesterday by Henry W. Price, chairman of the camp committee.

Councilors selected include J. Gilbert Storey, LaVale, Burkey Smith, William Smith, Clarence Getzendanner, Baltimore, Stanley Bishop, James Cook, G. Kenneth Bishop, George M. Waters, Mt. Savage, Frank A. Stone, Jack Weaver, Richard Reiter, Oldtown, Francis R. Light, Ray Lapp and Edwards Beall.

Plans are practically completed for opening the camp which will be conducted over a period of seven weeks. The regular "Y" boys' camp will be held for four weeks, followed by one week for the Cumberland Police Boys' Club and two weeks for the "Y" girls.

Everett R. Johnson, general secretary, will be the camp director and Mrs. Johnson will serve as camp mother. Assisting the camp director with special responsibility for water safety will be Miss Mildred Cookerly, physical education instructor of Allegany high school. The dining room will be under the supervision of Mrs. Leah A. Hosey in consultation with Miss Christine N. Ruehl, home economics representative of the Potomac Edison Company, who has prepared the menus. Heading the kitchen staff will be Mrs. Edith Flanagan, who is at present in charge of the hot lunch project at the Cresaptown school.

Applications from campers are being received and indications are for a fine season as evidenced by the number of requests for information received regarding the camp.

Sportsmen Favor Canal Hatchery

Use of a part of the abandoned Chesapeake and Ohio canal as a huge fish hatchery, was proposed at a state-wide session of the Zone eight, League of Maryland Sportsmen, held Sunday, at Carval hall, Annapolis. Tentative plans for the project were submitted by Frederick C. Dreyer, chairman.

Dreyer pointed out that the old canal has several sections intact in the Williamsport area which would make possible the finest and largest fish hatchery in the United States. The league, headed by Glenn L. Martin, builder of the Martin bomber, supported the proposal and prepared plans to submit to the Maryland assembly. Federal sanction of the project would be needed but state officials could expedite action and present it to Maryland members of Congress for their approval.

The lock sections, which could be utilized, are several miles in length. Dreyer asserted that many fish leave the Potomac river in time of flood and seek sanctuary in the adjacent canal.

At one time it was proposed to use the old canal bed as a super-highway between Cumberland and Washington but it was found the cost would be prohibitive.

Officials of the Maryland Inland Game and Fish Commission will be contacted to make a study of the plan. This body recently made a survey in Allegany and Garrett counties, seeking a site for a proposed hatchery, but no decision was reached.

War Department Confirms Death Of Cpl. Fishell

LaVale Man Lost at Sea November 27, 1943, Widow Is Advised

Cpl. Elmer Harry Fishell, 23, son of William H. Fishell, LaVale, who was reported lost at sea two months ago on a troopship, has been officially declared dead, according to a telegram received yesterday from the War department by his widow, Mrs. Betsy Ross Morgan Fishell, of Mt. Savage.

The telegram gave the date of Cpl. Fishell's death as November 27, 1943, and added that further particulars will be given in a letter which is to follow.

On December 29, 1943, Mrs. Fishell received a telegram from the War department, which stated that her husband was "missing in action." In March, 1944, the second telegram stated that Cpl. Fishell was believed lost at sea on a troopship. He was a technical corporal fifth grade and was attached to the United States Army Air Corps.

Mrs. Fishell last evening said that she last heard from her husband on November 22, 1943, five days prior to the date of his death as recorded by the War department. He was stationed in North Africa when he wrote his final letter home.

A graduate of Allegany high school, Fishell was employed in Block 4, Service department, Celanese Corporation of America, prior to entering the service August 27, 1942. He was stationed in Baltimore, Dyersburg, Tenn., and Mobile, Ala., before leaving for duty overseas.

Surviving besides his father and widow are one sister, Mrs. Russell S. Fisher, LaVale, and four brothers, John, Harold and Wilbert, of LaVale, and Tech. Sgt. Charles Fishell, attached to the United States Army Air Corps.

Cat Sets Record For Church-going

Search for "Cat's Meow" Ends in Tower of Town Clock Church

"Cats are cats," but "Sunshine," the "cat's meow" of the Rev. and Mrs. Joseph W. Young, 308 Bedford street, no doubt has set the record for church-going cats, possibly by reason of association with its owner, the pastor of Cumberland Methodist circuit.

At any rate, "Sunshine," described as a very pretty gold-colored cat, disappeared on May 4 and wasn't heard from for sometime. Despite an intensive search and numerous inquiries among the neighbors, not a trace could be found.

For the past several days, however, the Rev. Mr. Young has been hearing a cat meowing but couldn't find the feline for love nor money. The meowing persisted.

Early last night the minister heard it again, thought it might have come from First Christian church, known as the "Old Town Clock Church," next door to his home on Bedford street.

With the thought the cat might have been trapped beneath the floor boards in the basement, he got permission to remove several of them, but still no "Sunshine." A few hours later he heard the cat meow again and with the aid of a member of the church set out once more to locate the feline.

The search ultimately led to the tower of the church and then to a small room high above the street where the clock is located. There was "Sunshine," not so shiny and a little bit hungry after thirteen days at church.

The puzzle now is: How did the cat open the four doors necessary to reach the tower from the basement?

Pfc. Melvin Zollner Is German Prisoner

In a card received Monday by his mother, Mrs. Irene I. Zollner, 301 Pennsylvania avenue, Pfc. Melvin G. Zollner, 24, states that he is a prisoner of war in Germany and is in "perfect health".

The message, dated March 11, also mentioned that he expected to be moved to a permanent camp in the near future.

The local soldier was reported missing in action in Italy February 16. He is a former Celanese employe and attended St. Mary's high school. He has been stationed overseas since last October.

Price Panel Begins Third Store Survey

The third survey of Allegany county's retail stores will be in full swing today when National Price Control week begins, Harry A. Porch, chairman of War Price and Rationing Board No. 231.1, announced yesterday.

Each succeeding survey demonstrates more clearly than the previous one that Allegany county merchants wish to co-operate with the OPA, Porch declared.

Violations are still being reported, price panel representatives say, but there are very few instances of deliberate violations.

BEFORE AND AFTER— Rodger O. Campbell, 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Campbell, 503 Decatur street, stopped shaving on January 20, about the time the Liberty cargo ship on which he served with the merchant marine, left this country for Russia. Campbell came home last week sporting the handsome beard shown in the photograph at the left. Yesterday, the weather got a little warm and he shaved off the whiskers. Without them he looks like the picture on the right.

Federal Authorities Tell Tydings Local Airport Will Be Completed

War Department Says Work Will Be Resumed when Report Is Made

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—The Cumberland, Md., airport, on which work was halted during a nation-wide survey of all such projects, will be completed, Senator Tydings (D-Md) said he had been informed today by federal authorities.

Tydings said that approximately $1,000,000 has been spent on the Cumberland project and that it was because the port was so near completion that the War department decided to include it among those on which work would be resumed as soon as its report was made.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration, which carries out the projects for the army, said it expected the report soon, possibly next week.

Meanwhile, an appropriation of $150,000 for construction of an airport at Frederick, Md., was recommended by the Senate Appropriations committee in a bill reported today.

Tydings had asked the committee to switch a previous appropriation of $150,000 for the Cumberland airport to the Frederick project. Tydings explained that the $150,000 had been approved for Cumberland before it was learned that the CAA had allocated that sum for the project out of its general funds. The extra amount, therefore, was held by the CAA, and if the Senate committee's action is approved, will be used for the Frederick project.

Tydings said Frederick had acquired the necessary land, and that the recommended funds would be spent exclusively for construction purposes.

The sum was included in a $79,151,000 Commerce department appropriation bill for 1945.

PROTEST MEETING SCHEDULED TOMORROW

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—Senators and representatives from fifteen states have been invited to meet Thursday in protest to abandonment, by executive order, of airport construction certified by the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) said he and Representative Randolph (D-W Va) were arranging the conference from which they hoped to form a committee named to confer with the president.

"It was not many weeks ago," Gillette asserted, "that the armed forces O.K.'d these projects, and in many of the communities in which the airports were to be located, the citizens have spent substantial sums of money in land acquisition and other efforts to comply with federal requirements for airport construction.

"We desire to determine the status of those projects and what steps may be taken to prevent injustice to the various communities."

Twenty-seven airports are involved, Gillette said, including Johnstown and Wilkes-Barre, Pa.; Danville, Va.; Martinsburg, Parkersburg, Wheeling and Wiley Ford (Cumberland, Md., airport), W. Va.

An important task in the round-the-clock air missions, now being carried out preparatory to invasion, is performed by Lieut. William H. Rohman, Cumberland man, who is attached to the utilities section of an air depot which keeps fighting planes in condition, a dispatch from Eighth Air Force Service Command Station, in England, states.

Lieut. Rohman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Rohman, 601 North Centre street. He enlisted in 1942 and after receiving his wings he served as navigation and ground school instructor at Tucson, Ariz. Prior to enlistment he was employed as efficiency checker for the chemical department, of the Celanese plant. Scholarships will be on deposit at the council office and a receipt for a paid-up week at camp will be awarded.

Other Awards Listed

In addition, second place will be an award of one-half the cost towards a week at camp, and third place will be one-fourth of the cost toward a week at camp. Where a troop already has plans and funds toward camp fees, it is suggested that the scoutmaster make an adjustment in the troop treasury and substitute scout equipment instead.

Rules applying to the scouts' house-to-house solicitation of sales of ward bonds during the three days, include:

1. Each troop will solicit the sale of bonds only within the limits of its assigned service area.
2. Troop service areas will be in charge of either scout master, or some other adult appointed by him.
3. All bond pledges for this area will be reported immediately, by telephone, to him.
4. The man in charge will have a bond-writing team assigned to him for his troop service area, which will be on duty approximately from 4 to 8 p. m., each day of the drive and until all sales have been completed.
5. All troop service areas should be broken down into scout blocks or sections and assigned to individual scouts who wish to work.
6. Any sale to relatives and friends or to visitors in a troop area which have to be written up in another troop area must clear through the council office.
7. The scout who secures such a pledge will receive credit as will the scout whose assigned territory the bond transaction is completed.

Inasmuch as the scout solicitation begins the week following the close of school, no definite hours of solicitation are set; however, the hours 5 to 8:30 p. m., are recommended inasmuch as most people are at home for at least a part of this period.

Three Fire Companies Stage Assimilated Drill

The LaVale Fire department held an assimilated fire drill last evening at the James Dressman farm, Cash Valley road, with the Cresaptown and Corriganville companies responding.

The drill was planned by Robert Klosterman, chief of LaVale department; Harlan Lasher of Cresaptown and Harry Martz, of Corriganville departments, to ascertain the number responding and the results, as well as to show the inter-community co-operation between the three companies in case of an emergency. The three chiefs were the only ones who knew it was not a real fire when they answered the call.

A good response was made by the three companies with forty men answering the call. The hookups were made by the different companies and altogether about 3,000 feet of hose was used.

Following the demonstration refreshments were served by the LaVale department at their hall.

RADCLIFFE URGES THE ELECTION OF TYDINGS, McMULLEN

BRADDOCK HEIGHTS, Md., May 16 (AP)—Appeals for the election in November of Democratic members of the United States Senate and House were made by federal and state political leaders at the spring rally of the Women's Democratic Club of Frederick county tonight.

Speaker Sam Rayburn of the House of Representatives, outlining some of the problems of postwar planning, asserted that it was advisable that Democratic majorities be continued in both branches of Congress.

Rayburn said that co-operation with other nations will be essential after the war, adding that the United States must retain large armed forces. Had we been sufficiently armed in the prewar years, he said, the European struggle might have been averted.

Senator Millard E. Tydings denied rumors which he said had been circulated during the primary campaign to the effect that he had opposed fortification in Guam. He made the motion to provide funds for the project in Senate committee, Tydings said.

Senator Radcliffe urged the more than 200 women attending to vote in November for Tydings and for Daniel F. McMullen of Cumberland, Democratic candidate opposing Representative Beall (R-Md) in the Sixth district contest.

Maryland Attorney General William C. Walsh also urged McMullen's election. The candidate, making his first local appearance of the campaign, said that he felt the women's votes would be more important than ever before because of the absence of so many young men.
